N STREET VILLAGE ANNUAL REPORT | JULY 1, 2017 - JUNE 30, 2018
Thank you to the generous supporters who empower the nearly 2,000 homeless and low-income women who came through our doors this past year.

About the Font

The special header font featured in this report was designed in honor of the 30 year anniversary of Village staff member and artist Sharon Hart, whose iconic lettering has become a hallmark and featured part of N Street Village. The font has been appropriately named “Hart of the Village,” and is available to staff and Village friends upon request.
Dear Friend,

More than a decade ago, Emily made a brave decision and sought help after thirty years of struggling with an addiction. She got clean and sober at N Street Village, and she became a role model for others. She moved into her own new housing and returned to the workforce - but this time with a new profession as an advocate and counselor for others.

We know that the need for N Street Village is still acute. Since 2011, we have tripled our housing capacity – now with five locations which offer safe shelter and housing for over 700 women and 50 families each year. We have also increased and enhanced our wrap-around programs for health, mental health, substance abuse, HIV/AIDS, criminal justice re-entry, and trauma. This coming year we are also excited to announce the re-opening of our Judith Morris Wellness Center, alongside our new MARJ & MAK Vocational Center and our Greenhouse Recovery Center.

Emily’s story illustrates the power and possibility of the N Street Village mission which you uphold through your generosity. Every day we welcome at least one new woman for the very first time. Our objective is to meet her exactly where she is – as an individual, and as someone with inherent worth and with the possibility of a bright and better future.

We are grateful to all of you who power this mission and invest in our community,

Schroeder Stribling
Chief Executive Officer

Paula
I came to N Street Village with three bags, completely broken, and nowhere else to go. I remember working in corporate America in my 20s, going into a store and a guy was sitting on the sidewalk. I stepped over him, did my shopping, and then I came out and gave him money, not knowing I would be a member of the homeless years later.

I left my job to return home and take care of my father. My father died, then four years later, my husband passed away. Suddenly, I was a widow with two young children. Everything I had, I lost.

I had been living in my car with my son, and I ran out of money. There’s nothing easy about being a homeless female in Washington, D.C., but you take it step by step. You need a place to heal. You need a place to feel safe, and I found that at N Street Village.

For me, healing started with the classes and programs at the Village. At the time I thought I was learning, but looking back, I realize the classes were always about healing. My favorite class turned out to be a jewelry class, taught by Tmarcus.

Today, I am working - let me repeat that again - I have a job, and I am working!

Tmarcus
What inspires me when I come to work at N Street Village is being able to look around and say, this is me. I’ve been homeless. I’ve been addicted to drugs.

And even if that isn’t your story, at N Street Village, no matter who you are, you can come here and see a little bit of yourself. We’ve all been through hard times. We’ve all needed someone there to listen and understand. We all know that when we go through difficult things, like domestic violence or recovery, we feel alone.

But until you say something to somebody or someone shares their story with you, you don’t realize how many other people are out there experiencing the very same things. People need to hear your story and that you made it through, and they can too.

As a staff member, I see the Village is a part of all of our healing, whether we are clients, residents, volunteers, or donors. Here, there is always a place for you. I’m so grateful to be a part of this community.

MARJ & MAK Vocational Center

The MARJ & MAK Vocational Center will provide access to job seeking, job training, education and financial capability building services. The program will offer enrichment classes that are open to all women in the community and led by volunteers, interns and staff. In addition, we will have an enrollment track for eligible Village residents, where women will receive meaningful referrals for vocational services, increase monthly revenue through employment or new benefits and/or improve financial health through credit building.

The Greenhouse
The Greenhouse was named in honor of N Street Village Manager of Day Services and alumna Evelyn Green, who has been part of the Village community for nearly 30 years. The Greenhouse will be a 12-18 month addiction and trauma-recovery program. The Greenhouse will support women with substance use disorders who have a desire to reduce or eliminate the use of drugs and/or alcohol. The program will offer outreach and harm-reduction classes, which include drop-in groups offered in Bethany Women’s Center, the Judith Morris Wellness Center, and Patricia Handy Place for Women, as well as individual sessions with staff to learn more about recovery and harm-reduction techniques.

“N Street Village told me if I did something different, I would get something different. If my story helps another woman hold on one more day, it’s worth it.”

SPOTLIGHT: HOUSING IN D.C.

average cost to rent a one bedroom apartment in D.C.

$27.75
the hourly wage you would need to earn to afford a one bedroom home in D.C.

91 hrs/wk
what you would need to work at minimum wage to afford a one bedroom home.

What is “Affordable?”

When asked what affordable housing in D.C. meant, Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton replied, “There isn’t any.” More than half of the women who arrive at N Street Village have no income, and of those that do, 54% fall below the Federal Poverty Level of $1,011/month or $12,140/year. This means the average hourly wage an individual would need to afford a one bedroom home in D.C. is $27.75/hour. So even those who do work at minimum wage would need to increase their income five times over just to afford a one bedroom rental.

In a resource-rich city that is seeing an influx of new businesses and luxury apartments, the services that N Street Village provides are becoming increasingly essential. We are grateful for the many neighborhood partners, community members, and friends who continue to stand with us in the belief that all are welcome at the doors of the Village and that every woman should have a safe place to call home.

I came to N Street Village right out of prison. I grew up in D.C. and had a good family, but never felt loved. I left home at age 16 to move in with my boyfriend. When we broke up, I started going to clubs, using drugs, and not caring about anything except living for the moment and myself. Unable to stop using, I lost a good government job and soon became homeless. At that point, I didn’t know where I was going to sleep or what I was going to eat. I was scared and displaced.

When I found myself in jail for the second time, I knew something had to change. I got connected with a recovery program. I enrolled and even stayed an extra month in jail so I could finish the program. I heard about N Street Village while in prison and knew that was where I needed to be. When I arrived, it was a total paradigm shift. Here, I have mentors, advocates, sisters, and friends. I’m learning not to be selfish and how to respect myself.

When I was in jail, I made a list of all the things I wanted to do when I got out - and the unbelievable thing is that they are actually happening! I got my food-handling license and that has given me the opportunity to start a position at a local bakery!

Today, I have been at the Village for almost a year. For the first time in my life, I have hope and I have faith. I want to give back what’s been given to me.

Pam

I came to N Street Village to drop off a donation of clothes and immediately wanted to do more. I decided to volunteer. I committed a full year to the Village. I started out serving meals every Monday for an hour, but soon also started coming back every Wednesday for eight hours, helping with whatever was needed. Seeing the many paths and hearing the different stories from the residents and clients has opened my eyes to how necessary it is to have a place like N Street Village.

The Village is a special place. Even as a volunteer, I feel at home. I came to give back, but in the end, I receive so much more. The Village makes me a better person.

“When I arrived, it was a total paradigm shift. I have mentors, advocates, sisters, and friends.”

Carlita

I first came to N Street Village after my husband passed away. I needed a structured, caring environment to help me regain my independence and regain peace. N Street Village helped me find healing and recovery. I moved into my own apartment and now lead an active life, but I always come back.

This year, I am proud to be celebrating ten years of volunteering. Three days a week, I take two buses from my apartment to give back to the community that was there for me. I am in charge of the In-Kind Clothing Closet and teach two classes, “All About Me” and “Day by Day.”

When I meet a new client for the first time, I always say to give the program a chance. Talk to a staff member and see how it goes. You have to give yourself a chance to get back to the person you want to be, and that starts with walking through the Village doors.

Like many Village alumnae, I am proud to give back and grateful to my Village family and volunteers who keep coming back too.

Rebecca

I was born HIV-positive with so many drugs in my system I should have died — but I was a survivor from the start.

Growing up in the foster care system, I didn’t have much of a childhood. Being adopted at age eight should have been a blessing, but what followed was a cycle of abuse that continued for decades. That is until I came to N Street Village.

I’d been living on the streets for a few weeks when another woman told me I should go to N Street Village. I didn’t know what to expect, but Evelyn Green, the Manager of Day Programs, welcomed me into the Village community. Ms. Green helped me get an apartment at Miriam’s House, N Street Village’s permanent supportive housing community for women living with HIV/AIDS. Here, I finally feel safe.

For the first time in my life, I have a place to call home and I have the resources to take care of myself. Today, I am going to classes and getting my degree! Miriam’s House is peaceful, so I can concentrate on my studies and know I have a safe place to live and food on my plate.

“For the first time in my life, I have a place to call home and the resources to take care of myself.”

MAKE A GIFT
A recurring donation provides sustaining support to ensure critical funding is always in place for women facing homelessness, poverty, and related challenges. Join a Village club today:

BREAKFAST CLUB
$10 per month can provide nearly 100 hot breakfasts each year.

LUNCH BUNCH
$25 per month can provide 240 nutritious lunches each year.

COMMUNITY BUILDERS
$100 per month can provide 30 days of high-quality case management for a resident at Erna’s House, a Housing First Program.

To learn more about becoming a member, contact the Associate Director of Donor Relations and Engagement at info@nstreetvillage.org or 202.939.2074.

VOLUNTEER
From meal service to wellness classes, volunteers donate their time and talent to play an essential role in the lives of the nearly 2,000 homeless and low-income women we welcome each year.

For more information, see all our volunteer options online at nstreetvillage.org/volunteer.

DONATE YOUR SPECIAL DAY
With Village Birthdays, you can celebrate your special day (including birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, or any other celebration) while helping the Village.

To get started, contact the Events Manager at 202.939.2071 or visit nstreetvillage.org/birthday.
JOIN A COMMITTEE
We’re always looking for ways to connect with people who share our same passion for helping women reach their full potential. If that sounds like you, consider joining one of our committees.
To learn more, contact the Chief Development Officer at 202.939.2085 or visit us online at nstreetvillage.org/get-involved/join-a-committee.

TAKE A TOUR
They say seeing is believing, and the best way to truly feel the mission of N Street Village is by visiting the flagship facility to learn more about our programs and meet some of the clients.
Tours are offered weekly. Contact the Associate Director of Corporate Partnerships and Volunteerism at info@nstreetvillage.org or 202.939.2074 to schedule.

BECOME A CORPORATE PARTNER
Want to get involved with your workplace? We welcome corporate groups looking for an opportunity to work together as a team to provide the community with much-needed support. Contact the Associate Director of Corporate Partnerships and Volunteerism at 202.939.2075.

DONATE GOODS
The Village relies on donated items we can distribute free of charge. Organize a drive or order one of our most-needed items. Contact the Volunteer and In-Kind Donations Manager at 202.939.2058.
See our weekly list of top 10 items by visiting our wishlist at: nstreetvillage.org/get-involved/donate-goods.
