A LETTER TO OUR FRIENDS

DEAR VILLAGE FAMILY,

We are proud to present this Annual Report to you. We are members of the Inaugural Resident Advisory Council, a committee of Village residents focused on bringing awareness and guidance to the Village leadership on topics important to fellow clients. On behalf of the nearly 2,000 women we represent, we are especially excited to thank you for your generosity and share these stories of courage, hope, and healing.

Like many of you, this year brought both challenges and opportunities for each of us. We found hope in the moments of joy – moving into a new apartment, finishing a GED, reaching mental and physical health goals – and leaned on each other and this community in times of need.

As we watch DC rebuild and heal together, we are eager to see familiar faces and welcome each of you back through the doors of N Street Village. Our country has work to do as we navigate the road to recovery, but we are inspired by the optimism and kindness of this city and Village we call home.

In this year's Annual Report, you will hear from voices of the Village as we reflect on our shared experiences and our vision for the path ahead. We opened three new locations, met the unique needs of COVID-19 with strength and resilience, and provided uninterrupted care across eight sites. And, together with you – our Village Family – we are prepared to face the downward effects of the pandemic as housing, employment, and health care services continue to see new and growing challenges.

Thank you for standing with us through an unforgettable year and remaining a committed member of this Village as we plan for the future. Your generosity allows us to focus on our hopes and dreams while trusting that staff, resources, and services will be there to help us achieve them.

We hope that you enjoy this Annual Report and find inspiration in all that you helped make possible. We are grateful to all of you who power this mission and invest in each of us – the women of N Street Village.

VOICES OF THE VILLAGE: BELINDA MCCLEAN

From a young age, Belinda witnessed the devastating effects of addiction. Because her mother suffered from alcoholism, Belinda lived with her father until he passed away when she was just 13. While grieving the loss of her father, she moved back in with her mother and an abusive stepfather.

When Belinda became pregnant at 16 with her first child, her mother kicked her out. Belinda struggled over the years to provide for her growing family, which now included three more children. Troubled by her circumstances, she turned to drugs. Around the same time, Belinda's mother got sober and was able to take custody of Belinda's children.

"My mom got sober during this time, and she took my kids. I knew it was better for them."

In 2000, Belinda tried to get clean and gain control of her life, but she lived with a boyfriend who was violently abusive and an addict himself. Attempting to save her own life one night, she stabbed her boyfriend, resulting in a five-year prison sentence.

While in prison, Belinda finally got the help she needed and deserved. When she was released, she was clean, sober, and focused on her mental health. She moved into her own place and eventually regained custody of her children. Things were good for a while, but after a few years she started using again.

Although the journey was tough, five years ago Belinda once again found the determination to get clean and sober after moving into the Village's Patricia Handy Place for Women to escape another abusive relationship. Soon after, she was able to move into Miriam's House, a Village program for women living with HIV/Aids.

"N Street Village is the best thing that's happened to me. It's given me the chance I needed to start over."

At Miriam's House, Belinda receives the care and resources she needs. She works hard each day to prioritize her mental and physical health. She has been able to reconnect with her children along with her grandchildren.

Because of her strength and determination, Belinda once again looks forward to a bright future. Thanks to a referral from the Village's MARJ & MAK Vocational Program, Belinda completed a workforce training program at Together We Bake and is now employed by Nationals Park where she is working full-time. She was also honored at our 2021 Virtual Gala as a Steinbruck Honoree for the incredible accomplishments she has made in her time at the Village.

Her dream is to eventually own a home, where she can be surrounded by family. "I pray that my life will continue on this positive path, and I can enjoy the rest of my life, surrounded by the people I love."

CYNTHIA PARKS, HOLISTIC HOUSING RESIDENT

Born and raised in DC, Cynthia was one of 13 siblings growing up. After finishing school, she took a job with a health care provider assisting individuals with mental illness and disabilities. She got married and had two daughters.

Life was fairly normal until, one day in 2012, Cynthia was diagnosed with breast cancer. Luckily the doctors caught it early and were able to remove the tumor, but she still had to go through several rounds of chemotherapy and radiation. "For a long time, I was convinced I was going to die and that was so scary."

Through her recovery, her doctor prescribed medication to manage the pain. By the time her doctor stopped the prescriptions, Cynthia had developed an opioid addiction. "Once the doctor stopped my prescription, I started buying pills off the street."

Eventually Cynthia was struggling to find the pills she was looking for and was introduced to stronger drugs, switching to heroin and cocaine. Cynthia's addiction spiraled over the next two years, and she lost contact with much of her family, including her two daughters.

One day, she decided she had to make a change and started looking for help. "I was sick and tired, and I didn't want my family to see me like this anymore. My two beautiful daughters shouldn't see me like this, I thought."

Cynthia found the strength to check herself into a 30-day rehab program. From there she was connected to other addiction support facilities and shelters before making her way to the N Street Village Holistic Housing program in 2019.

Cynthia has been a proud Village resident for two years. Despite setbacks due to COVID-19, she found a job working for an organization supporting women and children going through experiences much like her own. "I'm getting a second chance at life, where I can give back to the community and tell my story to help others in the same way that I needed help several years ago."

In her time at N Street Village, Cynthia has not only found employment but graduated from Together We Bake's culinary training program, opened her own bank account, and is currently saving money for nursing school.

"Without my struggles, I would not know where my strength comes from. I chose to get sober for my daughters and because I wanted to see my grandkids grow up. I did it for them, but I know I also had to do it for myself, too."

Today, Cynthia has a strong relationship with her daughters and her four grandkids. She talks to them every day and is grateful for the love and support they continue to provide as she reaches her life goals.

VOICES OF THE VILLAGE: DESIREE WISE

Desiree's early years were not easy. She struggled with addiction, was in and out of the prison system, and lost custody of her daughter. In addition, she was the victim of a severe car accident that broke both of her legs leaving her with life-long pain. But Desiree was not ready to give up.

In 2009, after years of drug abuse, she made the decision to get clean on her own after being released from jail. She spent several weeks detoxing in a hotel in Texas.

Once sober, she moved often, taking jobs in restaurants as a cook in over 15 states across the country. In 2018, Desiree landed in DC after running out of funds traveling from Denver. "I realized I had nothing to hold me over and suddenly found myself sleeping on the streets."

Desiree lived outside Union Station for several days before a kind passerby helped her call 311. She was connected to a local shelter, and eventually additional housing and supportive resources.

In February of 2021, Desiree was offered an apartment at N Street Village's Diane's House, a permanent supportive housing program we opened in the fall of 2020. "Being able to move into my own apartment was a blessing."

Desiree completed the DC Central Kitchen culinary training this year and is a graduate of the Project Empowerment workforce program. She is also working with her case manager to apply for social security benefits and plans to have a double knee replacement in the next year.

Looking ahead, Desiree hopes to go back to school and get a degree in early childhood development. She has also reconnected with her daughter and now granddaughter. "They are my whole life, and I am so grateful to have a good relationship with them both."

While her life has been challenging, Desiree believes each of those difficulties made her stronger. She is focused on the future and grateful for the team at Diane's House that is helping her reach her physical and mental health goals. "Diane's House has opened doors for me I never thought possible."

THE ROAD AHEAD

Through partnerships with local government, health providers, and associations, N Street Village is committed to seeking new and innovative ways to serve women experiencing homelessness in DC.

The Village is dedicated to the long term success of our programs and services to ensure we are prepared to meet the need at our doors both today and in the future.

The Village is committed to cultivating an environment of inclusivity for its clients, staff, and supporters. We believe everyone deserves to be treated with dignity and respect no matter who they are, where they come from, or what their needs might be.

N Street Village opened three new housing programs bringing us to 12 programs across 8 locations in DC. This year we will launch our Step Up Rapid-Rehousing program and reimagine our Day Center to meet the increasing demand for housing, health care, and income caused by the pandemic.

The Village strives to listen first and act second. We aim to learn from those with lived experience and advocate for justice for all.

VOICES OF THE VILLAGE: MARTHA TSITSIWU

Born in Ghana, Martha spent her early years there with her parents and four brothers. Her dad worked as Educational Attaché at the Ghanaian Embassy, which allowed Martha to spend her elementary school years in Washington, D.C. and her secondary school years in London. Martha graduated with her first degree in Journalism at the Ghana Institute of Journalism and worked as a journalist in Nigeria for three years, eventually becoming the assistant editor of Super Woman Magazine. She then made the decision to move to the United States permanently and had a son while continuing her education.

In 2004, Martha recovered from a life-threatening car accident and became certified as a holistic health counselor, moving to North Carolina to work. After five years she decided to move back to D.C. to be closer to her brothers and son who were living in the surrounding area. After that move there was a major disagreement between Martha and her family and she was left with nowhere to live. Martha was homeless for the first time in her life.

Unsure where to go, she came to the N Street Village Patricia Handy Place for Women emergency shelter in 2019. After working with Village staff, Martha began the process of finding permanent housing in D.C. In 2020, she was connected to our newest housing location, Capitol Vista, and moved in as one of our first residents in February 2021. "I was so happy to have my own space and be in a more independent environment. I didn't realize how exhausted I was until I had a chance to focus on myself again."

Today, Martha is focused on her physical health and hoping to go back to school for a Masters degree in Holistic Health. "Capitol Vista is a foundation for me to build on."

Martha has been able to reconnect with her immediate family and sees her son on a regular basis. She is eager to continue her journey toward independence and is grateful for the staff that has helped her along the way.
